

Best Execution Report 2019

Part 1: top five entities used for the transmission or placing of client orders

Where we send investment applications or orders on your behalf to third parties (for example, to buy or sell investment holdings), we make every effort to ensure the best possible result for our clients. This is referred to as best execution. In arranging for the execution of your order:

- We may place the order via a third party broker or platform (an online investment administration services) to execute your order
- We may place the order directly with a fund manager

We're obliged to disclose on an annual basis the top five investment firms that we send our client orders to. The tables below relate to the period 1st January 2019 to 31st December 2019.

Part 2: monitoring and review

- We operate in accordance with our best execution policy. Please click here to see a copy of our best execution policy.
- Under the terms of our policy, we regularly assess the third parties available to us to identify those that will enable us, on a consistent basis, to obtain the best possible result when arranging for the execution of your orders.
- The third parties that we use, also have responsibilities in relation to best execution and client order handling. We undertake periodic monitoring to make sure that they continue to meet our requirements. This review is carried out at least annually or whenever a significant change occurs that we feel could affect our ability to continue to obtain the best possible results for our clients.
- We run monthly reports to monitor that all trades achieve the best possible price, and for those that do not, we analyse the underlying trade details to understand why this would be the case, e.g. extended settlement, abnormally sized deal, trade time, specific client instruction, etc.
- For any trades where we do not get offered the price within the spread, this will be discussed with the client prior to the trade being finalised. This is normally due to one of the criteria mentioned above.
